Who It Is For

- ✓ Backyard cooks needing 630 in<sup>2</sup> surface
- ✓ People who prefer propane fuel
- ✓ Users wanting a side burner for sauces
- ✓ Buyers willing to assemble the grill

Who It Is Not For

- ✗ Apartment residents without outdoor space
- ✗ Campers wanting lightweight portable grills
- ✗ Buyers seeking indoor or electric grills
- ✗ Shoppers needing built-in installation

Trade Offs to Consider

- Large footprint needs outdoor space
- Porcelain-coated cast iron needs cleaning
- Assembly required before first use
- Requires a propane fuel supply

How It Compares

- More cooking area than two-burner portable grills
- Includes a side burner unlike many basic models
- Porcelain-coated grates versus stainless-steel grate options
- Freestanding barrel design versus built-in cabinet grills

Choose This If...

- ✓ You need 630 in<sup>2</sup> cooking surface
- ✓ You prefer propane with a side burner
- ✓ You want cast-iron grates for heat retention
- ✓ You can assemble and move a freestanding grill

Skip This If...

- ✗ You lack outdoor space or balcony access
- ✗ You need a compact or highly portable grill
- ✗ You require built-in or cabinet-style installation
- ✗ You want an electric or charcoal-only grill
