Who It Is For

-  Families cooking multiple dishes simultaneously
-  Users preferring propane fuel convenience
-  Homeowners who want stainless steel durability
-  Buyers wanting quick and reliable ignition

Who It Is Not For

-  People needing a compact portable grill
-  Owners planning built-in island installation
-  Users requiring side burners for extra heat
-  Buyers who need charcoal or electric options

Trade Offs to Consider

-  Heavy 154 lb unit limits solo moves
-  No side burners included out of box
-  Only propane fuel no charcoal or electric
-  Assembly required before first use

Users Say

● POSITIVES

- ✓ Instant starts with JetFire ignition
- ✓ Even cooking from double-walled lid
- ✓ Good sear marks from cast-iron grates

● COMPLAINTS

- ⚠ No side burners for extra cooking zones
- ⚠ Unit is heavy at 154 pounds
- ⚠ Requires assembly after delivery

How It Compares

- Vs portable propane grills: larger and heavier
- Vs built-in models: not suitable for island installs
- Vs grills with side burners: lacks side burner
- Vs charcoal smokers: less suited for long smoke

Choose This If...

- ✓ You need four-burner propane grilling
- ✓ You prefer stainless steel construction
- ✓ You value fast JetFire ignition
- ✓ You want a mobile freestanding grill with storage

Skip This If...

- ✗ You want a small portable grill
- ✗ You plan to install a built-in island
- ✗ You require side burners or alternate fuels
- ✗ You cannot move or assemble a 154 lb grill
