Who It Is For

- ✓ Hosts small to medium backyard gatherings
- ✓ Home cooks who prefer charcoal flavor
- ✓ People wanting adjustable heat levels
- ✓ Owners with outdoor space and storage

Who It Is Not For

- ✗ Apartment dwellers with charcoal bans
- ✗ Users needing instant gas ignition
- ✗ Campers needing lightweight portable grill
- ✗ Buyers refusing any ash cleanup

Trade Offs to Consider

- Requires ash removal after use
- Slower to reach steady temperature
- Bulkier than portable grills
- Assembly required out of box

How It Compares

- Vs gas grills — charcoal flavor slower startup
- Vs small portable charcoal — bigger capacity less portable
- Vs dedicated smokers — not a specialized smoke unit

Choose This If...

- ✓ You host frequent backyard barbecues
- ✓ You prefer charcoal flavor over gas
- ✓ You need large cooking surface for groups
- ✓ You want basic temperature control and warming rack

Skip This If...

- ✗ You cannot use charcoal where you live
- ✗ You want instant startup and gas control
- ✗ You need an ultra-portable camp grill
